Napoleon and the Roman Law.
Napoleon I had an extraordinary mind. He appeared never to forget anything he cared to remember and assimilated information as the stomach assimilates food, retaining only the valuable. An incident will illustrate this remarkable quality of his mind.
When forming the "Code Napoleon," he frequently astonished the council of state by the skill with which he illustrated any point in discussion by quoting whole passages from memory of the Roman civil law. The council wondered how a man whose life had been passed in camp came to know so much about the old Roman laws. Finally one of them asked him how he acquired his knowledge.
"When I was a lieutenant," Napoleon replied, "I was unjustly placed under arrest. My small prison room contained no furniture except an old chair and a cupboard. In the latter was a ponderous volume, which proved to be a digest of the Roman law. You can easily imagine what a valuable prize the book was to me. It was so bulky and the leaves were so covered with marginal notes in manuscript that had I been confined 100 years I need never have been idle. When I recovered my liberty at the end of ten days, I was saturated with Justinian and the decisions of the Roman legislation. It was then I acquired my knowledge of the civil law."

Makes Brave Men Cowards.
It has been proved that the comparatively harmless bombardment, so far as wounds are concerned, of a besieged town is terribly demoralizing to the bravest men.
When a shell bursts near a group of 20 men it may kill one and wound two, while the remaining 17 escape without a scratch. It will be found, however, that many of these are never the same men again. No matter how iron nerved they were before, they are now irresolute and timid, and all their faculties are weakened. Very often they are jeered at by their comrades because of this change. But this is utterly unjust in fact, their brain and spinal cord have been injured by being violently shaken against the walls of their bony cavities.
The same thing occurs in railway collisions. People who were robust become quite feeble and nervous, though they may not have received a scratch.
This curious state in the case of soldiers is well recognized by doctors under the name of the mental injuries of explosives. The injuries are really quite as physical as a shattered leg, for they consist of a kind of bruising of the very delicate tissue of the spinal cord and brain.

A Misunderstanding.
"My dear," said a gentleman to his wife, "where did all those books on astronomy on the library come from? They are not ours."
"A pleasant little surprise for you," responded the lady. "You know, you said this morning that we ought to study astronomy, and so I went to a bookshop and bought everything I could find on the subject."
It was some minutes before he spoke. "My dear," he then said slowly, his voice husky with emotion, "I never said we must study astronomy. I said that we must study economy."—Pearson's Weekly.

CLEVELAND'S TREASON TO DEMOCRACY.

When a man comes to a conclusion that he has political knowledge of a transcendent nature and should be given the position of honor as leader of his party he is very sure to conclude that the combined wisdom of all men who oppose him is off color and heretical.

His superior wisdom and the wisdom of others who agree with him is infallible as he understands political ethics. He is without tolerance and therefore without reason arising from his boundless understanding of principles that he represents which are chiefly made up of his peculiar and selfish convictions respecting his political dogmas. The man who is prominent at this time in his superior wisdom is Grover Cleveland who lately administered to the Democratic party a lashing with a cat-o-nine tails made up from his knowledge of Democratic principles.

Following is the handle of the weapon used by his ex-excellency: "The culmination of Democratic woes was reached when its compact with these undemocratic forces was reached, but the extent and persistency of our wanderings in 1896 is illustrated in a most astounding way by the command issued on the day of our rout and discomfiture that a second battle should be fought on the same field with the same false ories and the same leadership that had brought us to the surrounding gloom of defeat."

Cleveland has made known that he has an imagination as gloomy as the gloom of defeat, that surrendered the Democracy in 1896. The gloom of defeat was the gloom of Cleveland's superior wisdom connected with Democratic principles and the gloomy wisdom of those who acted with them against the Democracy.

The gloom which Cleveland has taken as a text to furnish a theme against light and liberty represented by the Democratic party in 1896, and again in 1900 was furnished by him and his sort who were then defeated within the party and who retired as intolerant small souls do to take vengeance by becoming traitor to those who had manhood and conscience to declare their convictions respecting the right as they understood it to be in a political sense.

Cleveland and those in treason with him against the Democratic party defeated it during his last administration, which was not more or less than the development of a conspiracy to destroy liberty and individual rights in the United States, which is the darkest part of the gloom that has surrounded the Democratic party. Cleveland and others were in league with those whose purpose it was and is to destroy freedom, and through its destruction make the declaration of independence a hiss and a by-word in the land, but they failed to do as it was intended they would do in any particular at Chicago.

The cross of gold given by Bryan to the convention broke the conspiracy in pieces, which explains the animosity entertained by Cleveland and his confederates against the patriot Bryan. For nineteen hundred years the cross has sustained liberty and the rights of man, and it sustains them still, if its mention and no more in a Democratic convention is to be received as a proof. If the shafts of malice in the quiver of that political sinner, Grover Cleveland, taken from and manufactured in treason by himself, which he is now engaged in hurling at William Jennings Bryan, are to be received as planks for a new foundation for the Democratic party, the brains of the party will not stand upon them.

Milton made a success of his attempt to describe the malice of Baalzebub when he succeeded in getting up a rebellion in heaven, such as was created in the imagination of the poet; but there is not a man living, or that will live, who will essay the task and make a success of a description of Cleveland's malice toward Bryan, or of a description of his treason to the Democratic party.

Cleveland should be chained and sent to keep company with his political treason in the bottomless pit, reserved for those whose rebellion is against God and the rights of man. Cleveland is in the service of Mammon, and he is not in a position to wear the livery of heaven and preach galvanized political righteousness to Democrats. He believes the time has come when it is proper he should impose his treason upon those whom he has aided to defeat, and to impose upon them his tyrant will, as he applied both upon Democrats in a threatening and cruel manner when he betrayed the Democratic party when he was President. But times are different and the position he now occupies is not a position clothed in authority, nor is he deceiving anyone regarding his position when he has voted twice to defeat the Democracy.

Seven Young Offenders.

Four of the "League of Seven" showed up in Justice Linn's Court yesterday afternoon. They were discharged, but the complaint was not dismissed. It will be held over their heads as a warrant for their future behavior. Three of the young street arabs did not present themselves. It is likely that they will be given a chance to repent behind iron bars.

Mining Boom Is in Prospect.

We thought we had a good sized mining boom last summer, but unless all indications are at fault, next summer will make the past season feel ashamed of itself.

Four or five producing mines will be operated on Peavine, two on Granite Hill, one in Reno district, one at New Jerusalem and two on Dogskin in the lowest estimate possible and probably there will be twice that number of shippers. Olinghouse Gulch will produce way up in the six figure and, altogether, for the first time in the history of the county, mining will be the leading industry. A conservative estimate makes this year's gold, silver and copper output in this county, exclusive of outside ores worked in the Reno smelters, about $150,000.

Carson Votes Against Bonding.

The special election held yesterday on the water question resulted in a big majority against the proposition of issuing bonds to purchase the water works owned by the Carson Water Company. Although the election had no legal standing, it has settled the question of municipal water for some time to come.

Considering that the vote was for a mere expression of the desire of the people, it drew out quite a vote, 178 votes being cast; 143 voted "N" while 23 voted "Yes." Ten votes were unballotable and were not counted.

Ore Shipments.

Ore is being hauled from the Jeker mine on Granite Hill. Nearly a carload is on the station platform.

Two carloads of rich ore were shipped from the Reno Star this week. Mr. Wedekind complains about difficulty in securing cars promptly.

A Dance on the Meadows.

A rural holiday party was given last night in the new hall, five miles south of Reno, near Hoffaker's school house. There was a large attendance, a number of R-noites took advantage of the good roads and bright moonlight and drove out.

The Shoe Doesn't Fit Us.

The Nevada State JOURNAL claims to have information that $200,000 will be paid out in that State to influence legislation in favor of a lottery bill, and, in advising the legislature to stand firm against the proposed debauchery, says: "Let us hold up the weak hands." The idea that the average Nevada newspaper should assume the attitude of "holding up" the hands of the legislature in such a crisis! More probably would they "hold up" the $200,000 "jack" themselves. Quinny Bulletin.

A WORD OF WARNING

Authorities of Reno Should Take Action in an Important Matter.

It is a bad practice to wait until the horse is stolen before buying a lock for the stable door. It is equally foolish and criminally negligent to defer action in the matter of purifying the Truckee until the waters fall and become rotten with the effluvia from the Floriston paper mills.

The JOURNAL has been presented with two vials by J. P. Morrill of Verdi. The one contains the fluid as it is discharged from the establishment and the other was filled with river water at Verdi. The former is about the color and consistency of extract of vanilla and the latter looks like ginger ale.

This cannot be a wholesome liquid. It contains sulphur, arsenic and all sorts of stuff used in manufacturing and bleaching the products of the mills.

This conglomeration of chemicals is being run through the faucets in our kitchens, but at present, during the high water, it is so diluted that it is harmless, imperceptible to the taste, and lends no appreciable color to the water in a glass. But look at the river. A depth of three feet of what was once as clear as crystal is now opaque.

Saponaceous bubbles float upon the surface of the stream. Eight months hence, when the river will be so low that the current sets up stream, we will be drinking horribly smelling and tasting slop. The anchor ice will drag the slime down the stream and it will float on the bosom of what were once translucent pools.

Physicians, druggists, undertakers and tombstone makers are the only people who will profit by neglecting to improve this condition of things.

The Floriston people should be requested, and, if polite measures fail, should be compelled to construct evaporation tanks into which this objectionable matter should be conveyed and treated. It should never be allowed to find its way back into the river.

The JOURNAL hereby petitions the commissioners of Washoe, and the town dade of Reno to act in this matter at their next sitting.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Gossip About the Migrating Public as They Come and Go.

Charles Loder is down from Floriston.

R. O. McLennan is a visitor from Truckee.

D. Ocyne of Beckwith is a guest at the Arcade.

Dr. F. J. Robison will return to Susanville to-day.

A. J. Fewman of Dayton is registered at the Palace.

Dr. Grues of Indian Valley is spending a few days in Reno.

Mrs. Neseman of Beckwith is visiting friends in this city.

Bert Cahlan has returned from a holiday visit to Susanville.

Dr. Hamilton went to Verdi yesterday on professional business. James Nash is quite ill.

Mrs. H. Morris and daughter have returned to San Francisco, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Sol Levy.

Pete Laffranchini is down from Beckwith. He reports considerable activity in the building trades in that town.

A Good Movement Fails to Move.

The negative qualities of the Reno Improvement Association, when matters of pro bono publica are concerned, may be explained by the old adage which tells of the "perverseness of things inanimate." Only two sub-committees have ever accomplished anything worth chronicling, and they are resting on their laurels.

Construction Will Begin.

To-day the first carload of lumber for the Wadsworth Milling Company will be shipped from Reno to Olinghouse gulch. It will require 24,000 feet to build the mill. The establishment will be located on the Adams Bros. place, claim at the foot of the gulch. By spring there will be four mills chewing up Olinghouse ore.

Kris Kring's Visit.

Jolly old St. Nicholas visited Trinity church last night and made the members of the Sunday school happy with gifts. A very interesting program was rendered. Christmas carols, such as were sung in "Merrie England" in "ye olden tyme," formed an interesting feature.

JOLLY YOUNG FELLOWS

The C. A. G. S. Hold a Stag Party and Elect Officers.

The C. A. G. S. society met last night in Riter's hall to elect officers for the ensuing year. The boys are a jolly crowd and have an organization that is productive of much fun and mutual benefit.

It was originally an adjunct of the Reno High School, but now has many University students on its roll of membership.

A musical and literary program was rendered as follows:

Music.....Julien Orchestra
Opening address.....Elbert Stewart
Song.....K. E. G. S. Quintette
Piano Solo.....F. V. Julien
Speech.....Geo. Lyman
Humorous recitation.....F. Berry
Violin Solo.....Fred Julien
Benefits of Club.....Joe Sietz
Song.....K. E. G. S. Quintette
Speech.....F. Nathan

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Sam Francovich, K. D. G.; L. Seltz, P. C. M.; G. Lyman, L. K. S.; F. V. Julien, L. H. P. B.

The club will give its third annual dance on or about April 20th. It will be an invitational affair.

Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New.

The nineteenth century will cease to exist at midnight Monday. Wouldn't it be well to celebrate the occasion by some other means than by getting drunk? Let's make a noise; ring every bell and toot every whistle in the city long and loud and to the queen's taste.

What's the matter with calling all the anvils in town into requisition and welcome the coming, speed the parting quest?

It's a good custom, and one we'll never have a chance to repeat. There may be an ordinance against raising aheal at dead of night, but we can fix the cops and proceed under suspension of the rules.

The JOURNAL arises to the occasion and appoints Morris Jacobs, Quick Sunderland, John Madison Gray and Ach, Louis Cohn a committee to hold up the town-people and get the where-withal to raise particular pandemonium and make confusion thrice confused.

Who records the motion?

A Sterling Melodrama.

"Human Hearts," which comes to McKiesick's Opera House on Wednesday night next, is one of the sterling melodramas of modern years, which in this day of froth and folly of the stage, affords theater-goers an evening's entertainment which appeals to all lovers of the higher ideals in dramatic art. The piece is one of those pastoral realisms in which the people portray a plain country folk, always so entertaining when faithfully produced on the stage.

Will Send the Body East.

The remains of Lieutenant Gordon Freeman will be shipped to Knox City, Missouri—the place of his birth and where a number of his relatives reside. They will leave on the 8:35 train. The members of Troop A, First Nevada Cavalry, will escort the body to the train, from Perkins' undertaking parlors.

A Race War.

Yesterday afternoon a white man and a negro got into an altercation up in Truckee. Usually the razor is wielded by the colored brother, but the white man got in his work this time, seriously wounding the darkey in the neck. He was still living at last accounts.

The Place to Buy.

Frank Campbell has eastern cream cheese, ripe and green olives in bulk, salmon bellies and mackerel. Also bulk oysters on Wednesdays. Give him a call.

Rich Ore at Olinghouse.

Olinghouse gulch has astonished the west by its heavy production of gold this season. Several bunches of extremely rich quartz have been found. Values as high as $15 a pound have been encountered, but they were not permanent. Sheriff McInnis came up from Olinghouse yesterday bringing a lot of worthless looking clay from the tunnel in Cabin No. 2, owned by Dondero, Della Piazzi and Rosasco. He said it was rich and that there was plenty of it. H. H. Beck took issue with him as to the value of the stuff, and in order to prove that it was no good, he baked and mortared it. A pound or two was horned out and comparative weights showed the clay to carry $21,000 a ton in free gold.
